Dump use is allowed for MCS

Muskoka Containerized Services will be allowed limited use of the Scotch Line Landfill Site to dispose of household garbage collected within the municipality, Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council decided at its October 8 meeting.

Don Coates, who owns the Muskoka-based company, told council that MCS has been operating within the municipality for about a year and has not yet dumped any garbage at area sites. He said the garbage collected here amounts to about 30 to 35 cubic yards, or two dump trucks full, each week. This is the same amount he asked to deposit at the Scotch Line dump.

Coates told council he can understand that they might be concerned that MCS would be dumping out-of-town garbage at the municipal site. However, he assured them that he would be dumping only as much as he picked up in the area.

MCS, which has been operating in Muskoka and Parry Sound for the past 16 years deals with the refuse from about 15,000 residences during the peak season, Coates said. The company has been doing business on the fringes of Haliburton County for a number of years and recently expanded its services to include Minden and Haliburton.

MCS already has access to three other sites in the county in Dorset, Stanhope Township and Dysart et al Townships.

On a similar note, Reeve Sinc Nesbitt asked if Coates would be willing to meet with representatives from the county to discuss possible options for waste management. Coates agreed and Nesbitt said he would bring this up with county council.

Bursary honours former clerk

In honour of former Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Clerk Bev Millar, the municipality hopes to establish a $500 bursary in her name.

At its October 8 meeting, council passed a resolution agreeing to establish the $500 bursary for students from the townships who are graduating from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Students who are completing their final year at the school are eligible for the award. It recognizes academic improvement, significant contribution to student life, and involvement in extracurricular activities.

Redmen continue winning streak

Both the senior and junior Redmen soccer teams can still boast a record of no losses after more strong play against I.E. Weldon in Lindsay last Wednesday.

The seniors struggled to a 1-1 tie on a goal by Jan Haedicke while the juniors blanked their opponents 3-0 on goals by Darren Warburton and Bart Whiting. The senior and junior Redmen now share the same record of two wins and two ties.

In Wednesday's game, the senior squad played well against an improved Weldon team, despite the chilling winds and rain. Haedicke opened the scoring for Haliburton in the first half, but Weldon evened the count with a goal early in the second half.

With the score tied early in the final half and the wind advantage in Weldon's favour, it looked as though Haliburton might be facing its first loss. However, the Redmen rose to the occasion and came back to carry the play against Weldon, finishing very strongly to maintain the tie.

Haliburton had several

Juniors still unbeaten

The HHSS Redmen football teams split a pair of games Friday in Lindsay. The teams were being hosted by LCVI.

The junior team continued its winning streak defeating their hosts 13-7. The seniors went down to a 12-7 loss. The Redmen play their next games on home turf this Thursday when they host Fenelon Falls. The juniors play the first game.

Police net 21 in Kawartha drug raids

As the result of a six-month investigation into street-level drug distribution in the Kawartha area, Peterborough Ontario Provincial Police conducted early-morning raids last week, charging 21 people, including two young offenders, with trafficking and possession of narcotics. There are outstanding warrants for another 19 people.

Two officers from the Peterborough detachment had been operating undercover since last May in response to an increasing problem with drugs in the area. A district drug squad was established as part of a province-wide anti-drug initiative.

While undercover, the two officers made purchases of marijuana, hash, hash oil, cocaine and magic mushrooms with a street value of $25,000. As a result of this investigation 45 charges were laid against 40 people in and around Bobcaygeon, Peterborough, Lindsay and as far south as Toronto.

The 5:30 a.m. raids involved 50 police officers, including several officers from the Belleville and Barrie tactics and rescue units as well as the OPP drug squad out of Toronto. Officers from Lindsay and Peterborough detachments were also involved in the raids.

The drugs seized include quantities of LSD, marijuana, hash oil and speed.

The lengthy investigation which led to the raids was headed by Detective Sergeant Russ Woodbeck and Corporal Al Collicutt of the number eight district crime unit.

They were assisted by Detective Sergeant Ron Kirkpatrick of the drug section of OPP headquarters in Toronto.

Of the 21 people apprehended in the raids, 16 were charged with drug trafficking, one was charged with possession for the purpose of trafficking and two were charged with possession. The two 17-year-old young offenders were also charged with trafficking.

Virginia Meunzel, president of the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts, thanks Mary Purnell for the gift of her husband's folk art donated to the Rails' End Gallery. A reception for the opening of the new collection was held at the gallery last Wednesday.

Folk art donation on permanent display

A large gathering was on hand at the Rails' End Gallery Wednesday to see the beautiful folk art sculptures crafted by former Donald resident John Purnell which comprise the first outright gifts of art made to the gallery.

In accepting the gift from Mary Purnell, gallery curator Elene Freer said she was pleased that the first part of the gallery's permanent collection would be folk art since she has a special interest in that art form.

John Purnell, who died in 1979, carved the work that aptly depict rural Canada in the early 1900s. While most of the pieces stand about six inches tall, the gallery was also given one of the larger sculptures from Purnell's collection.

After retiring in 1962, Purnell took up furniture making as a hobby. He soon turned his efforts toward wood carving and began producing the sculptures with their characteristic simplicity in style that succeeds in capturing a certain mood.

Recently a number of his carvings were on display at Rodman Hall in St. Catharines, where Mrs. Purnell said a collector expressed an interest in buying the sculptures.

Mrs. Purnell, who has lived in the county for the past 10 years said she is planning to soon move back to St. Catharines. However, she felt the Rails' End Gallery provides a more appropriate home for the work than the Niagara Peninsula. She said she wanted the carvings to stay here because this is a farming area. "It's better than bringing them back to St. Catharines," she said.

The sculptures, which include horse-drawn sleighs, teams of miniature oxen and a few unique puzzles, are now on permanent display at the gallery.

Also, still on display at the gallery is Wendy Bateman's "Cultural Crossings."

The rough-hewn woodcarvings of John Purnell succeed in capturing the rural atmosphere.

Seniors complex in Haliburton opens on time

Less than a year after the official sod-turning ceremony, about 70 seniors are now enjoying their new home in the Parklane Apartments seniors' complex overlooking Head Lake in Haliburton Village.

"I didn't expect to be back on such short notice," said Victoria - Haliburton MP Bill Scott during the dedication of the new apartments October 3. He congratulated everyone involved for the "remarkable time" that was made in making the three-year-old dream a reality.

Scott lauded the village as "one of the most aggressive communities in the province." He said this project is an indication of the energy within the community and its ability to get the job done.

One year ago, Scott, along with MPP John Eakins, housing corporation president Cliff Dawson, then County Warden Harry Davis, Rotary President Dale Robinson and Legion President Joan Irish were on hand to take part in the sod-turning ceremony, marking the start of construction. And last Saturday, most were back again; this time inside the beautiful new 50-unit building.

Scott also congratulated the Haliburton Legion for its role in the project. It was the Legion that applied for the funding for the three-story complex. The Legion, along with the Haliburton Rotary Club also donated the land adjacent to Rotary Beach for its construction.

More than 100 people were crammed into the large lounge area where the dedication ceremonies took place. Yet more people stood in the lobby, listening to the words of praise given by each of the speakers. All guests were welcomed to the event by the Legion Pipe Band, which played in front of the building as people arrived.

The completion of this project is the culmination of a lot of hard work and perseverance by Dysart Council and the Legion. In all, five applications for funding were filed with Canada Mortgage and Housing and the Ontario Housing Corporation before the project was finally approved in March of last year.

Extending congratulations on behalf of the provincial government, Eakins said "these are the types of projects that make this a wonderful place to come and live, work and play." He and Scott presented a plaque from the Ministry of Housing and CMHC to be displayed at the entrance of the new building.

In his comments to the large gathering in the lobby of the apartment building, Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey said the 50 units will provide a place of comfort and refuge for the tenants. He surprised the dignitaries on hand when he indicated that this would be just the first phase.

Legion President Joan Irish later commented that she was not sure what the future plans included, but that Branch 129 would be behind them.

Initially the project was to have provided 30 rent-geared-to-income units. However, architect Robert Reimers, said this figure was soon increased to 33. Because the Legion wanted 50 units, the designs were drawn to accommodate a future expansion.

When tenders were called for the construction, they asked for prices for the completion of both phases of the project, said Reimers. And once tenders were received, the ministry gave its approval for funding for the entire 50 units.

"Phase two is already done," she said, noting that Fearrey must be making plans for phase three of the project.

Reimers commended the builder, Easton Brothers Builders, for the fine work done in completing the project in just over a year. He said the building is well built and will stand up almost for ever. Because the ground on which it is built is quite soft, the apartments are built on stilts of up to 70 feet in depth down to the bedrock.

Dierdre Gibson, of Gibson and Associates consulting firm, said her involvement in the project over the past three years has been a sort of family affair. She said housing corporation president Cliff Dawson and Joan Shipley were sort of like a mother and father to her they worked so closely on the project. She also noted that her second daughter was born and Shipley's daughter was married during the span of the project.

Dawson, who was instrumental in seeing this project through, had been directed by his doctor not to be involved in the dedication ceremonies. However, his presence in the room could not go unnoticed as each speaker provided him with praise.

World Food Day

With all the so-called bad news dominating the pages of Canada's major newspapers, it is often difficult to remember what it is that we should be thankful for when we sit down to that traditional turkey dinner each year on Thanksgiving Day.

However, we need look no further than the next page of this newspaper to see the comparative fortunes that we often take for granted. While the leftovers from yesterday's dinner fill the space in our refrigerators, the Ontario World Food Day Co-ordinating Committee is drawing our attention to the fact of our good fortune and how fragile it really is.

Because of its tremendous size, Canada is more than able to feed itself. We enjoy fertile soils and an enviable climate. Yet our agricultural base is at risk.

In neighbouring Victoria County, where agriculture is still the leading industry, the average farm produces enough produce to feed dozens of people. At the same time, many of these farmers are earning an income that hardly puts food on their own tables. Last year alone, $68-million worth of food products were grown in Victoria County. Yet, the average income the farmers earn from these sales is just $1,600.

The federal and provincial governments have developed various programs to encourage farmers to stay in business but the number of farms across the country continues to dwindle.

October 16 is World Food Day, a day when we are asked to draw our attention to these matters. The first step toward solving problems is through understanding them. Let's make an effort on October 16 to try and understand some of the problems food producers face today.

Canadians by now must be rolling over with laughter. I am referring to the free trade deal (still to be approved by the U.S.)

A majority of politicians are already screaming "Canada sold out." How can that be? They haven't even seen the documents yet. A few glimpses of a contract is hardly enough for a rational man to base approval or disapproval. Then again who ever thought a politician could be rational?

We have J. Turner screaming like a banshee with no more meat in his babble than the average day

The poor, poor porky

- by Arthur Black -

"Among the porcupines, rape is unknown."

A Canadian writer by the name of Greg Clark made that observation at least a half a century ago. It marks one of the very few times anyone's bothered to even notice the humble porky, much less enshrine him in print.

Not the only time though... Thumb through your copy of Hamlet until you find the part where the melancholy Dane gets chatted up by the ghost:

"I could a tale unfold whose lightest word
Would harrow up thy soul, freeze thy young blood,
Make thy two eyes, like stars, start from their spheres,
Thy knotted and combined locks to part
And each particular hair to stand on end,
Like quills upon the fretful porpentine."

Porpentine. How typical of the porcupine's sad sack run of luck that in his one shot at literary immortality, Shakespeare spells his name wrong.

I always feel sorry for porcupines. They are the gentlest of creatures and, it must be said, one of the dumbest. Nature gave them neither brain nor brawn nor fang nor claw. Their eyesight is pathetic, their speed, a joke. All they have to defend themselves against predators are quills, needle-sharp and barbed.

Approximately thirty-six thousand per porcupine.

It must work out pretty well because there are plenty of porcupines around. I'm told that the smarter coyotes, fishers and wolverines have learned to flip porcupines over, exposing the soft underbelly, but most of the animals that try messing with porcupines aren't that creative. The last three dogs I've owned, for instance. They all wound up with quills in their paws and their snouts - and a decided aversion to bothering porcupines ever again.

Quills serve the porcupine pretty well against his natural enemies, but they are not infallible. Each time I drive to the city I pass two, three - sometimes half a dozen prickly grey-black mounds on the pavement. Porcupines that couldn't shuffle across the road fast enough to avoid being kayoed by cars or trucks.

Against a speeding Dunlop radial, quills aren't worth a damn.

Funny animal, the porcupine. An old Finnish bushworker I knew up in Thunder Bay used to call them "the greenhorn's friend". He explained that porcupines had kept many a lost hunter or prospector from starving to death. He said that even a greenhorn with a broken leg could probably knock a porcupine out of a tree, kill it with a stick and get some meat in his belly.

Well, the porcupine may be the greenhorn's friend but he's not exactly buddy-buddy with a lot of camp and cottage owners I know. That's because of the porkies addiction to anything salty.

And I mean anything. If a human hand has touched it, that's like chip dip for the porcupine. They'll gnaw their way through shovel handles, paddles, canoe gunwales, outhouse doors - you name it, the porcupine will take a chunk out of it. He's got the tools for the job: four chisel-like incisors backed up by a set of 16 ridged cheek teeth that can grind down just about anything the incisors bite off.

For all the damage a porcupine can do, you seldom hear people cursing them the way they curse wolves and rats and groundhogs. I wonder why that is? Maybe it's because we all feel a little bit sorry for the porcupine. He is so awkward, so clumsy, so slow and and so flat-out dim-witted.

Perhaps he reminds us of the closet nerd that lived in all of us.

The poor hapless porcupine even makes a hash of romance. Peacocks and ruffed grouse strut and perform dances for their mating rituals. Moose trumpet. Deer and mountain goats have skull bashing gladiatorial contests. Even humans lay on candlelight, wine and a little Debussy on the stereo.

What does the porcupine do?

Well, part of the mating ritual of the porcupine involves the male drenching his would-be life mate with urine.

Is this to make her, in some perversely porcupine way, more attractive to him? No. Biologists figure the point of the golden shower is to deter any other possible suitors.

Figures.

Let me leave you with the only porcupine riddle I know. It's not magnificent as riddles go, but hey - we're talking porcupines here, remember?

QUESTION: How does a porcupine make love?

ANSWER: Verrrrrrrry carefully.

What do you think about...

The open door, next door

by Bill Kulas

Many prominent political leaders in Canada, belonging to various political parties are stating that anyone who opposes free trade is near sighted and has his head in the sand. Canadian business leaders are applauding the free trade deal, stating that the Canadian economy will be greatly strengthened. Certain individuals including Bob White, head of the Canadian Auto Workers Union of Canada felt that the Auto Pact would be jeopardized and was and maybe still is opposed to free trade. Isn't it the country just south of us with whom we are trying to deal who own and control General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors? Could it be that some people are against free because they are anti-American and base their pessimistic opinions on cultural differences rather than on economic reality?

Two weeks ago in my columns I used facts from the Canadian potash and softwoods industry to support the potential need for free trade. Let's look at a few more facts. "I think it's a tremendous achievement," declared Robert MacIntosh president of the Canadian Bankers' Association. "It shows that the Americans wanted a deal after all and is tremendous news for Canadians." Canada and the U.S. exchange about $160 billion U.S. a year in merchandise. The U.S. trade deficit with Canada in 1986 was $13.3 billion U.S. John Crispo, a prominent professor of political economy at the University of Toronto advocates that free trade will be a huge benefit for Canada, as does Mike Apsey, president of the Council of Forest Industries of B.C. and Alf Powis, chairman of Noranda Mines, which, by the way, employs more than 25,000 Canadian employees. George Saba, chief economist with Montreal

Trust, predicts that Canada's natural resources and manufacturing sectors will emerge as the big winners under the free trade provisions. Laurent Thibault, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association states, "We can expect it will greatly enhance the prospects for manufacturing investment and jobs in Canada." Brian Gray, vice-president of the Canadian Federation of Independent Business, said the elimination of trade tariffs will be a big boost to small business. "We needed greater access to the huge U.S. market to remain competitive in the increasingly competitive world market." How true his statement. More than 75 per cent of the total goods and services Canada currently exports to its world trading partners ends up in the U.S. market. A startling fact, isn't it? Therefore it is not too logical to seek free access to a market place that is so near and so important to us.

Many jobs will be created and many existing jobs will be lost if free trade does go through. One thing for sure it will be years before the impact of free trade can be measured. Let's hear some other views and opinions. Write c/o the Editor. Next week, part one of a three part series on service clubs.

old chicken

E. Broadbent speaking with a little more tact states that the whole of Canada is lost.

Remembering that Socialist-Communist thoughts espoused by the leader of the N.D.P. and his ilk seldom change, this is not only understandable but predictable.

Bob White is apoplectic - the auto deal is down the drain. What's he afraid of? Maybe his lads will actually have to start producing vehicles that in some semblance reflect their price tag.

I believe the real movers and shakers of Canadian business see this as a chance to finally put into use what this country and the U.S.A. were supposedly built on: "Free Enterprise".

This allows you to build a better product and market it without the fear that a tariff or trade barrier, will allow the product only 30% or so of full market potential.

I see this opportunity for Canada to show not only the U.S.A. but the rest of the world that Canada possesses some of the most skilled and adept professionals anywhere.

The small entrepreneur to the largest corporation should, I believe, view this as an opportunity with first class status.

October 16 is World Food Day. It is celebrated yearly in commemoration of the founding, 42 years ago, of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) in Quebec City.

Over 147 countries around the world commemorate World Food Day by reflecting on the importance of global hunger and food problems. The Ontario World Food Day Co-ordinating Committee is a coalition of voluntary and private sector organizations and government agencies, such as UNICEF, Red Cross and the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

This year the Ontario World Food Day Co-ordinating Committee wishes to focus on the future of food production technology and the role of the small-scale food producers.

Canadians have an efficient food-producing industry and enough money to import vast volumes and varieties of food which are not produced in Canada. In contrast, many parts of the world suffer food shortages black market prices and starvation. Civil wars rage because poor men and women are fighting for land reform and the right to produce food on their own acre or two.

There is no simple answer to these problems. Canada is a relatively young nation with a stable government. It is a rich nation blessed with resources which are the envy of most other countries. Canada is highly industrialized and new technology has been widely applied in farming. But many Canadian farmers today are in serious economic difficulty an easy fact to overlook in relation to the world's other agricultural problems.

Many Canadian farmers in 1987 are worse off than they were in 1983, caught in a vicious cost-price squeeze, the result of a damaging grain trade war between the U.S. and the countries of the European Economic Community. U.S. and E.E.C. farmers are highly subsidized. Ironically, it is our largest and most productive farmers who are suffering the most. The Canadian government has developed programs to help keep them in production because it would be a major disaster if our main food base is seriously eroded. We are not in danger of experiencing food shortages today, but it's not impossible in the future.

Through increased awareness and efforts to address the situation, it is

Several projects get council approval

The following are items from the October 8 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council:

Boat Storage

A bylaw to authorize a site plan agreement with Doug and Lynda Colbourne to build a boat storage facility next to the former Mac Bar Restaurant was approved by council.

All the existing buildings on the lot will remain standing although there are no proposed uses for these, council heard. The restaurant has been closed for at least two years.

Kennel

Kathy Fisher will be meeting with Chief Building Officer Peter Oomen in an effort to obtain a kennel licence for the boxers and poodles she plans to breed on her property on Bat Lake.

Fisher approached council with her proposal for a kennel on her 2.5 acre property and was told that the municipality does not have a kennel bylaw in place. Reeve Sinc Nesbitt suggested that she meet with Oomen, who will bring back a recommendation to council.

Although Fisher said the kennel will be set back 200 feet from the lake, Councillor Verne Graham insisted that she should first get written approval from every resident on the lake. Not all councillors agreed with this request, although it was suggested that she should receive permission from her neighbours.

Fisher told council that she is the only year round resident on her part of the lake, and she plans to have insulation installed in the kennel in order to meet the municipal bylaw when it is passed.

Storage building

A proposal for a storage

rental building on Highway 121 will likely go by the wayside because the developer does not want to go through the process of having the property rezoned.

Al Hudson approached council with his plans for a 31,000 square foot "lock and store" building on Highway 121.

While council was receptive to the project, the property would have to be rezoned from rural to commercial. Hudson, who has not yet purchased the property, replied that it is not worth the trouble of having the property rezoned. Instead, he said he would be looking into another project in the Bracebridge area.

During the discussions, Chief Building Inspector Peter Oomen said that his interpretation of the rural zoning allows for storage facilities. However, he said a project of the nature proposed by Hudson should really be in a commercial zone.

Driving range

Council gave its consent to a proposal for a miniature golf course and driving range development in Carnarvon from Bryon McConnell.

The property, located north of the Westside Jug City in Carnarvon is already zoned commercial. Therefore, no rezoning is needed for the project to proceed. Council suggested that McConnell should outline his proposal to the Ministry of Transportation and Communications to avoid any future problems that might arise.

Tenders opened

Although Reeve Sinc Nesbitt says he likes to hire local firms to do township work whenever possible, the difference in price received in tenders for blasting at Dump Hill on the Scotch Line Road could not be overlooked.

Roads Superintendent Clayton Cameron presented council with the three tenders received on the project with prices ranging from $19,448 to $65,799.

Council voted to accept the lowest tender from Tim Casey and Sons to do the blasting. The project will lower the grade of the hill by 10 feet.

New motel

A bylaw to authorize a site plan agreement with Peter Mathwick to construct a motel on the east side of Highway 35 was approved by council.

In discussions on the bylaw, Chief Building Inspector Peter Oomen noted that everything is in order and recommended that it be approved.

Mathwick told council that the motel will have 13 units and a residence. He hopes it can be completed by the new year.

Shoreline improvements

Council gave its consent to six applications for shoreline improvements, with each being subject to the acquisition of the shoreline road allowances.

The applications were received from Helen Turner, Edward Smith, James Carnegie, Eugene Federchuk, E. Becktal and William Kleinschmidt.

Cul de sac

Council passed a resolution to accept a signed undertaking of a turn-around at the end of Teasdale Street made by John and Kathryn Stainton. While this places no time limit on when the turn-around should be completed, council felt it can ensure the work is done. The turn-around is a condition of a severance application.

Teachers test "The Code of the West"

Abiding strictly by the Code of the West, few things ever change in Gopher Gulch. Like any other town out of the old west, Gopher Gulch is inhabited by the traditional townsfolk - a sheriff, a preacher, a quick-draw gunfighter, a dance-hall girl, and an undertaker.

But there's one character who just doesn't fit the pattern, and that's Sneaky Fitch, "the most lily-livered yellow-bellied good-for-nothing, low down, rotten-clean-through, miserable polecat that ever walked the face of the west." Worst of all, Sneaky doesn't pay any heed to the Code of the West. For this reason, the townsfolk want him gone.

The mythical town of Gopher Gulch will come to life on October 15 when the staff of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School present James Rosenberg's play, The Death and Life of Sneaky Fitch. The production is the staff's way of raising money for the Haliburton Hospital Expansion Fund.

With the entire staff involved either on or off stage in this farcical recreation of the old west, the production is sure to be a bit. The first walk-through of the play was staged last Tuesday and if this was indication, the performance should have the audience rolling with laughter.

With Steve Phillips

directing, the main cast includes Glen Scully as Sneaky Fitch; John Fitzgerald as gunslinger Rackham; Dave Mowat as the undertaker Mervyn Vale; Nona-Lyn Philip as Mrs. Vale; Nancy Robichaud as Maroon, the sauntering Dance Hall girl; Sid Cooper as sheriff Jack Oglesby; Doug Mitchell as the sly

Doc Burch; John Stouffer as preacher Stanley Blackwood and Louise Cooper as Mrs. Blackwood.

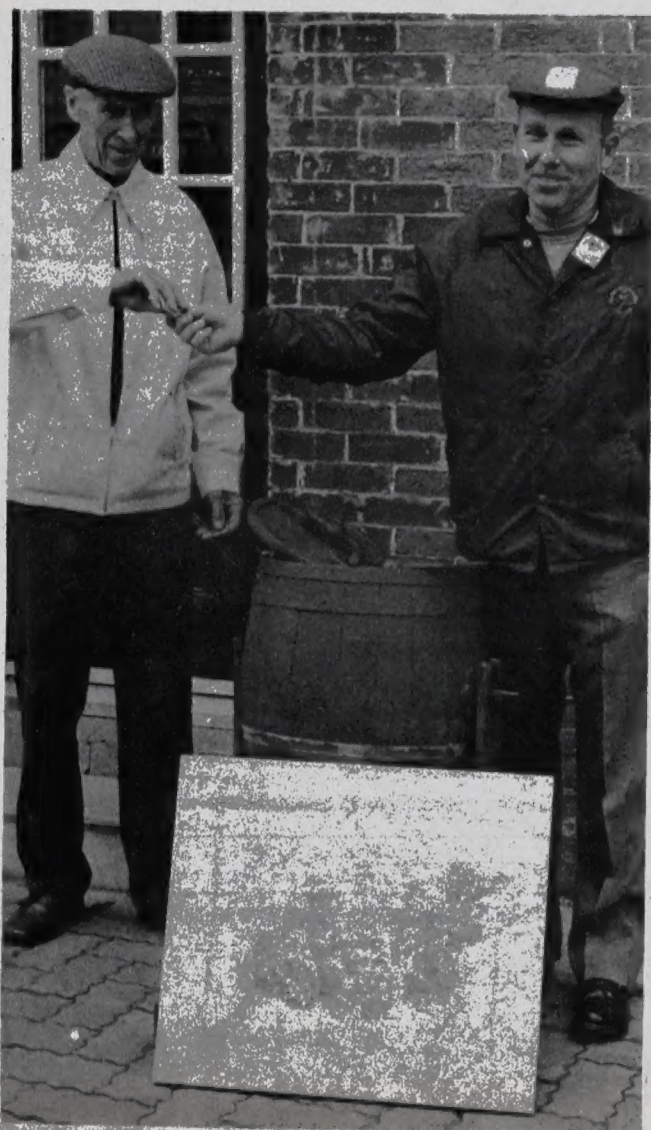

The Death and Life of Sneaky Fitch will be played out Thursday, October 15 at 7:30 p.m. at the high school. Admission is $3 for adults and $1 for students, seniors and children.

It can be tough being a coward as Sneaky Fitch (Glenn Scully) finds out during rehearsal for the HHSS Staff presentation of The Death and Life of Sneaky Fitch which can be seen at the high school on Thursday, October 15 at 7:30 p.m. Shown above, Sneaky climbs out of what would have been a premature grave. Right, he dances around bullets from the gun of Rackham (John Fitzgerald.)

A busy weekend in Minden

Barbara Berry will be receiving the watercolour painting which was the prize in the Minden Museum's raffle. The draw was held Saturday on the community's Main Street. Anson, Hindon and Minden Deputy Reeve Bern Berry drew the winning ticket from an antique butter churn from the museum's collection. Helping with the draw is museum committee member, Dick Kirkwood, left. The painting was donated by Minden artist Marion Hill. The proceeds are to go toward the museum expansion fund.

Saturday was Boy Scout Apple Day in Minden and members of the First Minden Troop took to the streets with baskets. Among the many youngsters raising funds for the local organization were Graham Wilson, Garrett Grexton and Mathew Hynard.

Brian Anderson takes a moment to recover after being pulled from his car during the Demolition Derby Saturday. The car had burst into flames after the fuel line broke. Rescuers were able to douse the fire and pull the driver to safety but not before the interior of the vehicle was filled with smoke and flames.

A driver, waiting his turn in the demolition derby ring, gains a vantage point on the roof of his vehicle. The annual competition, sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of Minden, was won by Jim Grant of Mount Albert. Dave Burgess of Minden placed second in the car crunching contest.

HAVE hears well report

Members of Haliburton County's HAVE (Help A Village Effort) committee heard a first-hand description of the progress being made with the dollars being raised here.

David Eadie, a technical missionary with the United Church of Canada, was the guest speaker at the committee's annual meeting held at Sir Sandford Fleming College in Haliburton October 3.

Eadie, who had been working overseas in underdeveloped countries since 1955, was particularly involved in well drilling in central India, Burma, New Guinea and Indonesia.

Speaking of his work in India, Eadie told the small gathering that the village where he was stationed had relied entirely on water from a distant river before he arrived and started drilling wells. For 700 years the people of the village walked a mile and a half to the river and down a steep 75 foot bank to retrieve their water, he said. When he arrived, his crew had a well drilled and in operation by the end of that day.

Eadie said it was not for lack of initiative that the village had not dug its own well. He said it would take six to eight months for them to drill with their equipment through the granite and basalt to a depth of 250 feet. With modern equipment, the same job can be accomplished in one day.

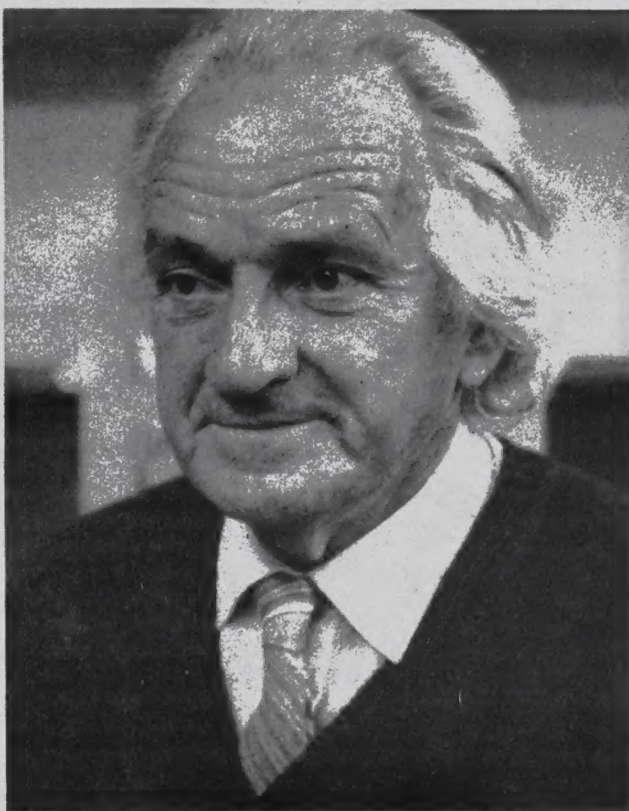

Eadie was one of the first people to begin well drilling operations in that country. Now, he says, there are 750 privately-owned drilling rigs in India. The country is now totally self sufficient in terms of its ability to drill wells, he said.

However, despite India's ability to drill wells, he said there is still a need for funding for individuals to afford a well. If a farmer or villager has a successful well, he can make money. However, Eadie said most cannot afford the initial cost of having that well drilled. This is where the efforts of groups such as the HAVE committee come into play.

With the 750 drilling rigs in use in India, 22,000 wells are being created each year. With this water, farms that used to produce one crop each year are now harvesting three times a year.

Through fund raising efforts such as the annual walk for water, the HAVE committee is helping villages in various underdeveloped countries to survive.

David Eadie.

Government creating jobs

- by Bill Scott -

This government has already created more than twice as many jobs as the previous government - 907,000 in 35 months, compared to 424,000 in 55 months. Employment opportunities are continuing to increase in all regions of Canada.

Evidence of this improved employment climate can be found in the help wanted pages of Canadian newspapers. In August, Statistics Canada's Help Wanted Index reached its highest level ever. According to this leading indicator of employment opportunities, the number of help wanted pages has more than doubled since September 1984. In comparison to a 110 per cent increase under this government, the help wanted pages shrank by 38 per cent between the February 1980 and September 1984 elections.

The improvement has (more on page 10)

Correction

A story in last week's edition of The Times indicated that Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council passed a bylaw at its September 24 special meeting to close off traffic to Orde Street.

While this is being considered by council, the bylaw passed at the special meeting was to close off traffic to another township road described in the minutes of that meeting as Part Lot 8, Concession 13, Minden Township.

Hospital drive officially closed

Barbara Dawson, Chairman of the Fund Raising Committee for the Haliburton Continuing Care Unit, announced that the campaign for funds officially closed on September 30, 1987.

The campaign was launched on January 20, 1987 and Mrs. Dawson says, "At this time I thought we would have a real tough job making our goal before September 30." However, it was not all that difficult and Mrs. Dawson attributes that to the hardworking Fund Raising Committee and the outstanding support shown by the people in all parts of the County. The campaign was very successful.

"The way people responded to this need is very heart-warming," Mrs. Dawson said. She also stated that the Board of Trustees of Saint Joseph's General Hospital, which is responsible for the operation of Haliburton Hospital where the new 18-bed unit will be built, "will be absolutely amazed at the support shown for this project."

The original goal has been met and exceeded, allowing the Fund Raising Committee to establish a new goal which would add some things to the project that the local group was pressing for, such as a full basement under the new addition. The new goal, established last month, is $400,000 for private donations.

The funds actually on hand at the close of the campaign amounted to $293,000. There is another $100,000 being counted on from activities already planned and from the business canvass. "That takes us pretty close to the new goal," Mrs. Dawson said, "and, if past experience is any indication, some of these projects will go over their mark and we should have no problem totalling $400,000 from the campaign."

Sketch plans are expected to be approved by the Ministry of Health this week and the working drawings will then be made. It is expected that tenders will be called around the end of December and construction can start as soon as possible in the spring.

Mrs. Dawson advises that the money already on hand is invested at a good rate so the interest earned will be available to look after any construction cost increases between now and the time building actually starts, and to take care of inflationary increases.

The total cost for the project at the sketch plan stage is estimated at $1,787,850, including the additional work requested. It is expected the provincial government will provide over a million dollars of that cost, the County and Municipalities have pledged $266,400 toward it, and that leaves the $400,000 to be raised from the public by private donations, the support of service clubs, other organizations and activities organized by interested citizens.

The campaign is a huge success and the hospital Board, the Fund Raising Committee and Mrs. Dawson, in particular, want to thank everyone in the County, whether a permanent or temporary resident, for their great support. "It is a job well done," says Mrs. Dawson.

Water Conditioning's automatic filter for the removal of iron and sulphur from your water supply is ingeniously simple and reliable. The heart of the filter is essentially a cylindrical chemical cartridge with a chemical resistant rubber diaphragm which accurately meters and delivers a fixed, small amount of potassium permanganate for the automatic regeneration of the filter media. Water Conditioning's proven automatic six cycle control valve allows convenient programming of regenerations to maintain operating efficiency of your filter.

The attractive blue cartridge contains 10 lbs. (4.6) kg potassium permanganate and will last from one to two years. When the cartridge is depleted according to the date label, the homeowner simply disconnects it by means of a hand loosening fitting and replaces it with a new supply. Operation of the automatic filter is fail safe and the closed chemical system is clean and efficient.

HOW THE METER INITIATED IF-MI IRON FILTER WORKS

Set the 24 hour timer and set the program wheel by dialing in the number of gallons of filtered water required. The meter control will supply treated water, monitor your water consumption and regenerate only when the preset number of gallons is used.

Library Week October 19-25

Readers reveal significant books in lives

Ontario Public Library Week is being celebrated across the province October 19 to 25 and so we asked many influential members of our community to consider two questions: first, what was the most important book that they had ever read and second, how did it change their life.

By all reports, these questions evoked considerable discussion and while a few people said that they couldn't identify just one book because there were so many to choose from, a large number did just that.

In many respects, Peggie Neville of Haliburton captured a most relevant and essential thought when she noted that "every well-written book has caused me to think. Every good book changes my life in some way and my horizons are widened, courage boosted, faith restored or the day brightened by laughter."

The following is a composite of the many replies received from individuals who were able to identify books important to them. Suffice it to say, all are available at or through local branches of the Haliburton County Public Library located in Bicroft, Dorset, Haliburton, Minden, Highland Grove, Wilberforce, Lochlin, Gooderham and Stanhope.

Joel Levis, Chief Librarian, allowed that he should be able to start off with Richard Haliburton's Wonders of the World emphasising that there is "no coincidence between the author's name and the name of the county. When I was but a little boy - as Tolkien might say - Haliburton allowed me to come along with him and explore the world through the eyes of one older in years but not in outlook. He prompted me to dream of travel to such far away places as Mont St. Michel and Carcassonne, swim through the Panama Canal paying a toll of thirty-six cents - a record to this date - and even swim in the pools of the Taj Mahal in India. I've had the nerve to travel to many out-of-the-way places thanks to this man and his book".

Karl Samuelson, Director of the Hyland Crest Nursing Home chose The Origins of the Second World War by A.J.P. Taylor. This book prompted Samuelson to seek out Taylor while in Britain and established a working relationship with him which eventually resulted in Karl's own book being published - Fourteen Men - a political and social history well known in Atlantic Canada. Without Taylor's original book, Karl's would not have been produced.

Food for the mind was probably the last thing that Marilyn Billings of Gooderham was looking for. She reports that when she got married, she "couldn't boil water without burning it" and since her Mother was a long way away without benefit of a telephone, it was up to her Aunt Grace to provide her with a Purity Cook Book so her "hubby wouldn't starve". Obviously this says something good about potential shower gifts and besides, how many of us haven't been affected by this book in one way or another.

And how many people are affected by books as gifts? Jean Greenaway, Supervisor at the Dorset Branch of Haliburton County Public Library reports that her teacher gave "me a copy of Robinson Crusoe when I was twelve. I still have it. The school library was small and this one showed me that there was "another world". I wanted to read more books, especially about other countries. Maybe this was the beginning of my work in the Library?"

Winnie Schofield of Wilberforce submits The Discoverers by Daniel J. Boorstin which she describes as having given her the most pleasure over the past few years and upset one of her long-held theories - that human intelligence has advanced through the ages. She now believes that "thoughtful, truth-seeking men have always been part of the human race and it is to them that we owe the present vast store of information and leisurely style of living that we enjoy today."

Marjorie Cowen of the Stanhope Branch suggests that Leslie Scrivener's The Terry Fox Story made her realize that "if I had a dream, I should try to fulfill it" and even though Terry's dream was cut short, "his memory and what he did accomplish should be an inspiration to myself as well as to others".

Wig-a-Mog Inn owner Art Ward identifies Dalton Camp's Gentlemen, Players and Politicians as the most interesting book that he has ever read. "Having been on the fringes of politics for 10 years," says Art, "I was quite interested by the stories of comradeship amongst those involved in the Public Service and politics. I have always admired Camp's command of our language and his ability to sort the 'chaff' from our political grain and having just experienced the peaks and valleys of a campaign, I have decided to read the book for a second time in case there was something I missed. While this was not an important book, it was a delightful read with a thoughtful insight into the corridors of power across our great country".

County Clerk Gary McKnight identifies The Joy of Stress by Peter Hanson because after he "suffered a severe heart attack, I had to change my life style. The book has been very instrumental in helping me to cope with stressful situations and showing me how I can keep my life interesting and active without fear of further damage."

Health was a concern expressed by Joanne Burroughs of the Highland Grove Branch who suggest that life goals and health should be intertwined and while many of us strive to make big money, get new cars, big homes and other "necessities", they are often attained at the expense of health. No Time to Die is about a new medical technique that saved the life of a woman who was afflicted by a degenerative spinal disease that was beyond the scope of the doctors and has affected Joanne's life style in regards to healthier children.

The title selected the most was the Bible, perhaps reinforcing the concept that books can influence your life. Mrs. Margaret Finlay, Tory Hill, states that "it has been a guide for living, skillfully written and containing helpful passages in times of sadness, illness and death. It gives humour, inspiration and guidance to all that read its passages".

"In my early teenage years," said Stuart Baker, Director of Haliburton County Board of Education, "it gave me a direction for establishing relationships, a basis from which to develop personal values and the opportunity to accept a sound philosophy of life".

Alex McLeod of Haliburton included the Bible among many other titles, attributing this selection in part to his "having been raised in a Scottish Presbyterian household".

Mrs. McLeod chose the Encyclopaedia Britannica because it showed her that there was "more to life and living than the small town that (I) was born in". She feels that had she not been exposed to this work, she would still be living her life out with her friends and relatives that are still there.

If you take a few minutes, there is doubtless some book that you can identify that had a special meaning to you and perhaps changed your life. And even if you can't identify that one book, perhaps Ontario Public Library Week is a time for reflection about the freedom that we have to discover these and just about any other book that we want without fear of censorship or intervention by others who feel they know what books are good for us.

We should think of those members of our society who have become better citizens through information that they have uncovered at their local bookstore or public library and the return on the investment that is being achieved every day through the provision of freely available public library service.

A society that has direct access to a free public library is far stronger than one that doesn't. Like those that have answered our questions, you can be all that you ever want to be ... by reading.

Value your library card ... because it is the key to Haliburton County Public Library and any other public library that you might want to use ... and Happy Library Week!

Sharing world food concerns

In an effort to commemorate World Food Day on October 16, a line of communication has been established between two small-scale farmers - one in Ontario and the other in the West Indies.

The Schooley family has an apple farm near Simcoe Ontario and the Lorenzo family farms near the village of LaVajia, 120 kilometres from Santo Domingo in the Dominican Republic.

The two families share a common bond: they both farm their own land. But they've been learning lots about their different farming techniques and lifestyles through their children's correspondence.

Francia Lorenzo, 10, has written the Ontario World Food Day Co-ordinating Committee to give Canadians a sample of a day in her life in the Dominican Republic. Melissa Schooley, 11, also described what it's like to spend a day at her family farm in Simcoe, Ontario.

This is just one project started by the Ontario World Food Day Co-ordinating Committee to bring about dialogue between small-scale farmers and to focus attention on the plight of global food production.

World Food Day commemorates the founding of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization (F.A.O.) in Quebec City in 1945. The purpose of the day is to foster awareness of global food and hunger issues.

World Food Day activities in Ontario are organized under the auspices of the Ontario Co-ordinating Committee, the provincial section of the WFD Association of Canada.

The Ontario Co-ordinating Committee was established three years ago and includes representatives from: The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, Canada World Youth, the Canadian Red Cross Society, Canadian Universities Services Overseas, Crossroads, Foodshare, HOPE International, Science for Peace, the University of Guelph, the University of Toronto - Scarborough College, UNICEF Ontario and the United Nations Association.

One of the major responsibilities of the Ontario Co-ordinating Committee is the development, production and distribution of educational resource materials focusing on a yearly theme. The 1987 theme is "Small-Scale Food Producers" and over 1500 educational kits geared to the elementary and secondary level have been produced. These kits have been so well received by educators that demand has far exceeded supply.

Other activities include the proclamation of World Food Day by municipalities across Ontario and the organization of events in many communities around the province.

Ontarians are being encouraged to become more aware of global food issues and to take a more active role in the search for solutions, as well as to make contributions of money or volunteer effort to any of the agencies involved in food-related activities.

How long can the most fertile land in Ontario be gobbled up by development before we feel the repercussions?

How long will it be before we have to watch another episode of starvation in Ethiopia on television?

Only political will and public awareness can help solve the problems of hunger and food production.

Agritour builds awareness

In an effort to raise awareness of the importance of the agricultural industry to a community, the Victoria County Agricultural Society along with the Ministry of Agriculture and Food organized a tour of two farms in the area and invited leading businessmen along.

Introducing the businessmen to the first annual Agritour, tour leader Carm Hamilton from the ministry noted that agriculture is the leading industry in Victoria County, surpassing even tourism.

Sales of agricultural products in the county amounted to $68 million last year alone. He said that shows growth of more than 13 per cent over the past five years. Hamilton also noted that the leading expense faced by farmers are for feeds, interest payments, machinery repairs, and wages - all things that put money back into the community and local business.

The tour was taken to two area farms, the first being a dairy farm owned by John and Mar Hope.

The Hopes own 43 Holstein cows and at the time of the tour they were milking 35. Hope said that on average, each cow produces 8,200 litres of milk each year.

The second stop on the tour was at a family farm owned by John and Ev Loudon, who have a cow calf operation. Loudon owns two Charolais bulls and his cows are bred to calve in the spring or fall. Calves are weaned from the cows at about six months of age and are sold as stocker calves at the Lindsay Community Sales Barn.

On the inside, looking out, one of Mr. Loudon's Charolais bulls keeps an eye on the curious tour group.

Home publishes guides

As a means of providing visitors or potential residents with information guidance, Hyland Crest has developed two informative guide books.

The first to be prepared, and released last week, is a residents' guide. It outlines all the features of the home that are available to the residents, as well as the many activities which are available.

Hyland Crest Administrator Karl Samuelson said this guide will be very useful to anyone who is considering making Hyland Crest their home. While he is always willing to show people what the Home has to offer, he said the guide will help back up his information. There is just too much information to absorb in one meeting, he said. This guide will give potential residents something to refer to once they return home.

The second booklet is a guide for relatives and friends visiting at Hyland Crest. It offers helpful tips on how to make the most out of visits with relatives and friends living at Hyland Crest.

"While we encourage independence and work to maintain the dignity of the residents, the fact remains that their focus is somewhat narrowed, defined by the services of Hyland Crest rather than those of their former communities," Samuelson writes in the introduction to the booklet.

"As a result, it is sometimes difficult for relatives and friends to know how to begin a conversation, what to talk about, what to do or how to deal with topics a resident wishes to discuss," he says. The booklet addresses these and other difficulties.

Hyland Crest Senior Citizen's Home has recently produced two guides to answer any questions that potential residents or visitors may have about the home. Administrator Karl Samuelson, shown here with the resident's handbook, says the two publications will provide valuable information to the reader.

Trent-Severn report

As a pattern of wetter weather seems to be developing, the decline of levels in the Haliburton Highland Lakes should not be as evident as has been seen in previous weeks and months. The lake's average percentage has now slipped to 29.7% of their full levels by September 28, 1987. Flow in the Gull and Burnt River systems has remained below normal this week as a decision to not draw additional water from the reservoir lakes has been made.

The early drawdown of Big Bob, Little Bob and Kushog Lakes has now been completed to ensure that unnecessary exposure of Lake Trout spawn does not occur.

Residents of Farquhar Lake should be aware that the bottom stoplog timers in that dam are in need of being replaced, therefore a temporary deeper lowering of the lake by 30 to 40 centimetres will occur to ensure the new stoplogs can be inserted properly and safely. Refilling to full levels will take place soon thereafter.

Most of the Kawartha Lakes are expected to drift down a few centimetres into their navigation ranges as little water will be drawn from the reservoirs during the final 10 days of the navigation season. A continuing decline may be seen after the canal closure if rainfall amounts are insufficient to maintain levels.

Students try their hands at spinning

Students from Mrs. Obee's grade 8 class at Archie Stouffer Elementary School had an opportunity to learn first hand about the art of weaving. The class visited the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton Thursday where two recent displays feature many facets of weaving.

Wendy Bateman, one of the artists whose work is on display, was on hand to answer the students' questions and explain the process a weaver goes through to complete a piece of work.

The students were also shown how to spin yarn on a hand held drop spindle with coloured fleece. Then, using various kinds of material, including a number of unusual items the youths brought with them, they created woven blocks on small looms. Included in the interesting and colourful designs were such items as an old watch, a partridge tail feather fan and numerous buttons.

The students' work was left at the gallery, where it will be stitched together in a large patchwork quilt. The finished product will be returned to the classroom in several weeks.

Bryan Reid and Robbie Kraemer concentrate on their design on a hand loom at the Rails' End Gallery.

Grade 8 students Larissa Gray, Carol Forrest, Kevin Buchanan and Robbie Kraemer pay close attention as Highlands artist Wendy Bateman demonstrated the use of a drop spindle in spinning yarn.

New projectors placed in libraries

Three new 16 mm film projectors have now been placed in public libraries within the County Library system as a result of co-operation between the County Library, the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture and three townships.

Making the announcements, Joel Levis, Chief Librarian of the Haliburton County Public Library reported that the branches which would house the units included Glamorgan (Gooderham), Sherborne (Dorset) and Cardiff (Highland Grove.) "The new units will permit branches to have their own local presentations using films available from the County or from elsewhere in the OLS-Trent Service area. Township Councils paid 50 per cent of the cost with the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture paying the remainder.

"Community support of this nature is especially welcome as it demonstrates the value placed upon the public library as an element of community life and as a contributor to our culture," said Levis. "While it may be possible to make a case for newer forms of media, my colleagues agree that as a whole, the 16 mm film concept is still a valid one and is being utilized more and more by community groups and other organizations to achieve their own goals and objectives."

Projectors are available for loan from a number of other branches in the Haliburton County Public library system as well as through the headquarters in Haliburton.

Snowdon wins award

The Quarterly Achievement Award is presented every quarter to the Branch of Haliburton County

Public Library showing the greatest percentage of improvement in library usage over the same quarter of the previous year.

The award for the period July to September 1987 is being presented to the Snowdon Branch which increased its usage by 29.2 per cent from the same time last year. This is the second highest improvement in the first year that the award has been given out.

Library usage across the county continues to increase. If you haven't visited a branch of the Haliburton County Public Library lately, perhaps you should go and see what you have been missing, says Joel Levis, County Librarian.

good chances, but could not get the winning marker. Cecil Smith, Mark Sorensen, Darryl Goodall, Gord Wood, Kelly Youngdale, Terry Smith and Jan Haedicke all put in first-rate performances.

Ball control

In the junior game, Haliburton played a patient, ball-control match, frustrating the opposition the cold and slippery playing conditions.

Striker Darren Warburton again led the way for the Redmen with two sparkling breakaway efforts. Bart Whiting added a single marker to the 3-0 win.

Chris Holliday-Rhodes, supported by strong defensive work from Paddy Taylor, David Kinsella and Jason Billings, recorded his second straight shut-out.

Both Redmen soccer teams will put their no-loss records on the line again in Lindsay this Wednesday as they take on L.C.V.

The Move Is On

Floyd wins pumpkin prize

For the second year in a row, Minden area gardener Floyd Winger has won the Horticultural Society's largest pumpkin contest. This year's mammoth entry weighed in at 167 pounds, well over the 110 pound winner he had grown last year.

The contest was open to area gardeners as long as they used seeds supplied by the Horticultural Society.

Mr. Winger offered no particular formula for growing monster pumpkins. His garden, on the shore of Mountain Lake, has particularly rich soil, he noted, and he made use of liberal applications of manure to feed the hungry vine. But other than that, and regular watering, there was little that differentiated his efforts from what others may follow.

The fact that the garden is close to the lake, helped protect the plants from the early frosts. The weather was co-operative as well this year, providing lengthy warm and sunny growing periods and a late first frost.

Mr. Winger used to farm in the Queensville area of Ontario, giving him a background that would be of value.

What to do with a 167 pound pumpkin? Mrs. Winger prefers not to use it in pies, selecting other squash for these. So the champion has met its end chopped into little pieces and fed to Floyd's goats and pigs, perhaps to grow other champions.

Floyd's abilities in the garden reach beyond the pumpkin patch. He also won the competition for the largest sunflower head. His winning entry measured 15 inches across. The large flower head bobbed atop an 11 foot stalk. As large as this year's entry was, Mrs. Winger remembers the time in Sharon when they grew a sunflower which measured 19 inches across.

While Floyd's entry captured top prize in both competitions this year, there were other gardens which also bloomed with a fury in the Minden area.

Rich garden soils and some TLC are credited with helping to produce this 167 pound pumpkin. Floyd Winger grew this monster in his garden and once again this year captured top prize in a competition sponsored by the Minden Horticultural Society.

Denzil Cox's garden produced the second place pumpkin which weighed in at 136 pounds and the third place sunflower head. The third largest pumpkin in the competition came from the garden of Joan Warburton whose entry was 130 pounds. Second place in the sunflower contest was an entry by Andrew Graham. It measured 14 and a half inches across, a half inch shy of the winner.

3-6-9 tournament Sunday

by John Fountain

On Sunday we saw a lot of action at the lanes as the annual 3-6-9 tournament commenced. The team of the day was Alex Little and John Fountain who had a total of 1400 pts., made up of singles of 314-263-308-253-262. Right behind them were last year's champs Ruth and Bruce Cummings with a total of 1344 pts., made up of 260-280-277-292-235. Third place went to Marie and Ken Thompson with a 1326 total and singles of 252-271-288-257-258. Fourth place found the team of Vern Boles and Darlene Fearrey with a 1311 total consisting of 257-284-247-248 and 275. All in all everyone had a good time regardless of their finishing position.

Getting back to the Wednesday Afternoon mixed league, the Misfits and Swingers are tied again at 16 pts., while right behind them are the Goof Balls at 15 pts., and the Goodtimers at 14 pts. Trailing the pack are the Road Runners at 11 pts., and the Pace Setters at 10 pts. High average goes to Linda Morrison with 202 followed by Frieda Handy at 190. On the mens' side Dick Cummings has a 186, and Harry Henderson a 178. High single goes to Frieda Handy with a 360 followed by Dick Cummings with a 257. High triple also goes to Frieda Handy with a 744 and again Dick Cummings follows with a 682.

On the Men's Commercial League, Modern Electric has built up a lead with 65 pts., while Harding Metals has 52 pts., and Carnarvon Lanes 45 pts. On the lower end of the scale Payne Real Estate has 37 pts., West Guilford Recreation has 27 pts., and Ingoldsby 26 pts. Ron Robinson Jr. is back in the lead with a high average and triple go to Bill Korz with a 304 and 749 respectively.

Duplicate bridge offered

by K. Hodgson-McMahon

The Haliburton County Home Support Services Drop-In Centre offers a program of Duplicate Bridge. This is a new endeavour under the directorship of Alex McLeod. It is still in the trial stage of development. The Centre borrows the boards and equipment. We would like to ascertain in the next month if there is adequate interest in "duplicate" to continue through the winter months and purchase our own equipment. The activity is held on Thursday afternoons at 1 p.m. If you are a Bridge player come out and see if duplicate appeals to you.

Unfortunately, due to the cost of equipment, if four tables does not become the average number of tables per week, duplicate bridge as it now exists will not continue. Next spring would see a private club forming with fees to cover the costs and ensure participation.

Again, come out and give duplicate bridge a try this Thursday, 1 p.m. at the Drop-In Centre, Haliburton. For more information call Katherine at 457-2171.

Deep Thoughts

Sometimes the mind lies dormant
Unable to conceive,
Then, suddenly, like a magnificent rainbow
Or ethereal northern lights
Comes the driving to achieve.
The pain of creativity
Is just like giving birth
But one feels totally compelled
To leave his mark on earth.
The artist, writer, poet
Composer all sublime
All strive to leave their love of man
Upon the sands of time.
If we listen to their message
The wonders they have wrought
Then God above will smile on us
The lesson clearly taught.

Yvonne

kid's korner

by Jean Lacey

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: Why did the invisible man look in the mirror?
A: To see if he still wasn't there.

Q: Why is a tight shoe like a fine summer?
A: Because it makes the corn grow.

Q: Why is hot bread like a caterpillar?
A: Because it makes the butter fly.

Q: What fish sings songs?
A: A tuna fish.

Q: What is the loudest sport?
A: Tennis, because everyone raises a racquet.

Q: Why does Lucy like the letter K?
A: Because it makes Lucy lucky.

Q: What is the best year for a kangaroo?
A: Leap year.

Q: How does a monster count to nineteen?
A: On his fingers.

Q: Where do snowflakes dance?
A: At the snow ball.

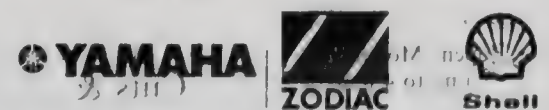

Q: How can you put a good horse on his metal?
A: Shoe him.

Dear Readers: It really feels like winter; the first thing we know it will be Christmas.

Our week started out right with chapel services by Rev. and Mrs. Burgess and Mr. and Mrs. Thompson on Sunday, and Rev. Moll of Minden United Church on Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Jenkins (Finny) celebrated her birthday on Saturday with members of her family at Hyland Crest for dinner and cake. Her son played some lovely music which we all enjoyed very much. Happy birthday to Lucy Burgess, Finn Jenkins, and Etta Brentnell from us all at Hyland Crest.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cameron of Peterborough came Sunday afternoon and took their sister Winnie Barnum to Haliburton to visit some of their relatives out for dinner. Dora Dawson had callers also. My daughter Anna Gordon and her friend Berta Kickey of Burnt River called on me for a short visit Monday evening. Jean Taylor got a budgie for her birthday. She is having quite a time teaching Joey to talk.

Sorry to report Etta Brentnell is not very well at this time. We hope she will be better soon.

The movies Monday night were "Swiss Family Robinson", "Liberty", and "The World Without Colour".

The Fearreys of Haliburton came here Tuesday evening and entertained us. Their music was very enjoyable. Thank you folks, we do hope you will come again.

No matter how busy you happen to be, there is always just time for a nice cup of tea.

Until next week.

New award donated to Guild

by Leopoldina Dobrzensky

The Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts was delighted and most appreciative to receive a new award donated by Ethel Curry in memory of her beloved niece, Pat Irwin. This special award is to be called the "Ethel Curry Award for Excellence in memory of Pat Irwin." It is reserved for an adult artist or crafts person, residing permanently in Haliburton County, whose work is judged for "Excellence" at the annual "Guild of Fine Arts April Show" at the Gallery.

The donor wishes this award to be kept separate from other memorial awards to Pat Irwin. The recipient to be chosen by the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts or by one of the board's designated representatives. Ethel Curry is a noted local painter and former arts teacher, especially known for her delightful landscapes of the Haliburton area.

This month fibre art is featured prominently at both galleries. While many Guild weavers, spinners and rug hookers are taking part in an exhibition of the same name at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden, the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton is hosting "Cultural Crossings", a one-woman show by Wendy Bateman.

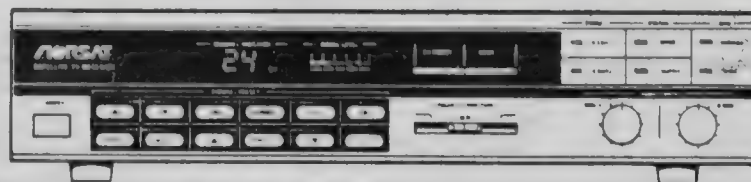

The artist's skillful use of native colours and techniques is evident and most pleasing to the eye but her interpretation of 3,000-year-old petroglyphs, set against the Laurentian rock formation in which they were carved, is much more than that. To gaze at the panels is an artistic and spiritual experience of the highest order. The show opened with a deeply moving ceremony involving the completion of a woven tepee and its blessing to which the public was invited. "Cultural Crossings", a very special celebration of our native heritage, should not be missed by anyone living in this area.
